Detailed issues overview

Orphan URLs - only found via sitemap: 1 pages

+1

These are URLs not discoverable through internal linking and have a status code other than 404. They're detectable only via the sitemap, and 'float' within a domain's set of URLs, evading web crawlers and standard Google bot indexing.

| Page URL                                                                     | Status Code | Issue found |

Has only one followed internal linking URL: 13 pages

+13

The URL has only one followed incoming link from one other URL on the website. The amount of internal backlinks and their anchors have impact on page rankings. More internal backlinks means higher rankings, so it is better to add more links from other internal pages to pages listed in this filter.

Page has <table> but has no <caption> attribute: 2 pages +2

There is a <table> on the page without a <caption>. A caption functions like a heading for a table. It is a recommended practice to have the caption defined.

Add dimensions to images: 7 pages +7

Page contain images that do not have width and height size attributes. Always include width and height size attributes on your images and video elements. This approach ensures that the browser can allocate the correct amount of space in the document while the image is loading.

Defer offscreen images: 32 pages +32

The page contains images that are fully loaded by the browser even though they are not visible in the user's viewport. This negatively affects page loading speed. Consider lazy-loading these images after all critical resources have finished loading to improve page speed metrics.

Has an internal link with no anchor text: 3 pages

+3

The URL has at least one outgoing internal link with no anchor text. If an outgoing link has no anchor text, this represents a missed opportunity to provide additional information about the target page to search engines, which could have an impact on this page's ability to rank for relevant search queries. Write anchor text that provides at least a basic idea of what the page linked to is about.

Page has no list markdown: 9 pages

+9

Page that have no `<ol>` or `<ul>` list markdown. The `<ol>` and `<ul>` elements both represent a list of items. The difference is with the `<ol>` element, the order is meaningful. To determine which one to use, try changing the order of the list items; if the meaning is changed, the `<ol>` element should be used, otherwise you can use `<ul>`. Using these elements in HTML you can manage user attention better and improve user engagement on the page.

Page has no strong importance elements: 8 pages

+8

Pages that have no `` elements in the code. The `` HTML element indicates that its contents have strong importance, seriousness, or urgency. Browsers typically render the contents in bold type. Using this element you can manage user attention better and improve user engagement on the page.
